Dear Parents

In a special assembly, at 9 am on Monday 3rd October, our new school book – All Write Now – will be launched. The book is an anthology of stories written by the children who are currently in Years 3, 4 and 5.

You may remember that local writer, Charlie Lea, led two days of writing workshops in the summer term. The children had great fun exploring their original ideas, gaining confidence in their writing skills during the process. They are now published authors.

We would like to share some stories and story extracts with you on the 3rd October, as well as some interesting insights about other famous authors.

Yours sincerely

Mrs J Callaway
